Surreal Atrocities

A Life Once Lost

The damage has been done
Listen to the cries of turmoil
As the day continues to rain
You can hear the vocal violenceSilence the crowd
Words fall short of sound
As the loudest of men
Become speechlessLack of breath is what swept me away
As I wallow helpless in this surreal atrocity
With night approaching, we all become vulnerable
Everything seems to move slowerAs time drifts apathetically
To great the dawn
As the new day begins
The effort to live becomes none
