everytime

Oi Va Voi

Every time I see your face I know the love that lies and waits for me
And every time I look at you your eyes they say the same thing back to me
And every time I look above I see and learn and know there's something waiting for me.

Every tear in your eye
Is a drop in my mind
As I know that you love
As I know that you love

Every time you go away I lie beside a cold and empty space
And every time I turn a page your hands begin to fall down from your face
And every time I look above I see and learn and know there's something waiting for me.

Every tear in your eye
Is a drop in my mind
As I know that you love
As I know that you love
