

Shadow Boy

Jessica Hernandez & The Deltas

Hang on the outskirts of the crowd
You wish you were apart of
To them your voice is just a thing to grab a hold of
But you tossed your silence in their hands
And you wished you were a shrunggled man
But someones got your voice locked at their bedside
It's stolen from a work of art
And he's slowly tearin you apart
To break you into nothing but a shadow
He says your glow is far to bright
To step outside and see the light
Cause in your eyes
You know its darker than the nightfall
Take a train to it back to home
To realize you're not alone
To set aside your ego cause you talk full
But now you're just a naked boy
Stripped of all that brought you joy
You start to wonder if it's even worth it
Realize to be alone
Aint so bad
Go back to living life inside your head
Realize to be alone
Aint so bad
Go back to living life inside your head
It's stolen from a work of art
And he's slowly tearing you apart
To break you into nothing but a shadow
He says your glow is far to bright
To step outside and see the light
Cause in your eyes it's datker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall
Darker than the nightfall

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>