Go the Way You Go

Spock's Beard

Look another heart is beating
But how? Why? There must be some way to know
So many roads are weaving
And I wish, I knew which way I should goGo the way you go
You can't know what you don't know
Go the way
Go the way you goSo you say the world if perfect
And all there is, is all there could be
But it's all just words to me
Can you say more 'cause I want to know?Go the way you go
You can't know what you don't know
Go the way
Go the way you goHalf moon bay playin' forty fives
Hammer's in the window while the moose man drives
And they're passing cars like people
And they never say the things they know
And the master of disaster is sleepin' in the roadCarbon copy of the last place you know
The past is telling how the future will go
And I can't believe you're asking
(I your mind)
I can't believe it's taking
(So much time)
Sometimes you know the sun can burn you blindGo the way you goAll kinds of people
Ain't tied to no mast
Got all kinds of visions
Of futures and pastsThey won't confiscate you
They'll quote you no facts
They are the human tides turning
They are the fire burningWaving their banner of white
The people are right
The people are right
The people are right!The people are right
The people are right
Are they right?Look another day is breaking
And hot light will soon turn the black to blue
I know these roads are weaving
But it's alright, trust in the ones you chooseGo the way you go
(And trust what you choose)
You can't know what you don't know

(There ain't no way to lose now)Go the way you go
(No matter what you do)
You can't know what you don't know
Go the way you go
