

You Believe

Eiffel 65

Threats of the war are Knocking at our door
It's the coming horror picture of heroes on the floor
The taller monster of hate
To smother our hope or love here
But I have faith because I know that you believe You believe that in this world
There is always a place for you You believe there'll be a tomorrow
And feel that this is true You cry when you are happy
And smile when you are blue And you never
Let your own faith
Take control of you You believe that all the rules
Are the rules you write The road to find the numbers of life
Means to gamble wrong and right I feel that in my world
Far beyond what I can see
There's a melody around me
Because you
Believe in me [Instrumental] You believe that in this world
There is always a place for you You believe there'll be a tomorrow
And feel that this is true You cry when you are happy
And smile when you are blue And you never
Let your own faith
Take control of you You believe that all the rules
Are the rules you write The road to find the numbers of life
Means to gamble wrong and right I feel that in my world
Far beyond what I can see
There's a melody around me
Because you
Believe in me I feel that in my world
Far beyond what I can see
There's a melody around me
Because you
Believe in me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>