Mitchell Torok

HOOTCHY KOOCHY HENRY FROM HAWAII

Chorus

Hootchy Kootchy Henry from Hawaii

He dances Hootchy Kootchy in the sand

On the beach of Waikiki, 'aneath the coconut tree

He does the Hootchy Kootchy dance to beat the band

In old Hawaii, 'aneath the spreading coconut tree

There lives a gay lad, whose heart is free

Heâ€™s got no money, still he owns the world

Heâ€™s got his grass 'aclippers ready for hula hula girl.

Repeat Chorus

Il old Hawaii, they dances on the shore

And the brown skinned natives, all cry for more

He plays his guitar, Hawaiian style

The melody heâ€™s 'aplayin by the islanders awhile.

=====

Repeat chorus

In old Hawaii, when the sun is sinking so low

And the US steamer loads up to go

He sings his love songs, to the girls on deck

They swim right back 'ato the island, just to hug him by the neck.

Repeat Chorus

When the tropical moon beams, out over the sea

And lonely hearts long, for company

He rids the island, of all itâ€™s blues

He gets his from â€™adrinking of the coconut juice.

Repeat Chorus
