

A River of Crimson

Heaven Shall Burn

I close my eyes and hear it rushing
From the cradle to the grave
This pulsating ever flowing stream
Running through my veinsAn ocean within me
Tides of the deepest red I know
Drowning the filth of the outside world
Ever vibrant, never resting protecting me
Healing me, a treasure beyond goldEver heartbeat a movement order
For an army marching through
Every single heartbeat, an army marching throughNever resting
Mystified and sacrosanct
A mesmerizing force from times immemorial
A fragile balance, in need of perfect harmony
All too often tainted and defiledAn ocean within me
Tides if the deepest red I know
Drowning the filth of the outside world
Ever vibrant, never resting protecting me
Healing meNever restingEvery silent breath I take fuels this vivid stream of ever shining red
Raging currents, silent waters, an uncorrupted mirror
Reflecting my state of mindMy river of crimson
Never be my enemy
Never run into my ocean of sorrow
Be my companion, I shall never leave
An ocean within me
Tides if the deepest red I know
Drowning the filth of the outside world
Ever vibrant, never resting protecting me
Never resting, ever vibrant, my silent remedy
