And You'll Be There

Alice Gold

I wrote this song for you my dear
Back before when all was clear
I thought you needed hope to hear
When you told me you're your only fear

I felt you so, oh
Want you to know

That you'll be there
Standing in the garden
When no-one else is there
And all that you want to be, you'll be

'Cos life can be a distant love
Barriers keep building up
I wish you walk through all you got
It has oh so very much my love

One day you'll find
You'll need to find

And you'll be there
Standing in the garden
Waiting for them there
And all that you need to be, you'll be

Your voices tell you to wise up
Gasping for air as we wake up
Anticipating we size up
What are we waiting for China?

And you'll be there
Standing in the sunlight
When all the trees are bare
And all that you'll choose to be, you'll be

And you'll be there
Standing in the garden
With everybody there

And all that you are, you'll be oh-oh-oh-oh-oh

Lyrics Submitted by Jen Holder

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/