

Order of the Universe

Anderson Bruford Wakeman Howe

i Order Theme

(Anderson / Howe / Wakeman / Bruford)

Instrumentalii Rock Gives Courage

(Anderson / Howe / Wakeman / Bruford / Lawrence)

You don't need anybody, don't you give me that surprise

Everything about you inside your eyes

You don't need anybody in your family ties

You crossed over the riverYou don't need any money to deserve all your friends

It's just the love you give them

You don't need anybody in this complicated life

You crossed over the river

And you're there on your own and you're lost in your life

And you think there's someone's gonna make you feel so good

You better lose control you better watch your step

For there's something inside you, they call itRock gives courage, a way to win the trust

Rock gives lover a way to win or bustYou don't need anybody in this complicated life

You crossed over the riverRock gives courage, a way to with the trust

Rock gives lovers a way to win or bustRock gives sisters a way to speak their mind

Without this gift of rock and roll

We'd all be wasting timeiii It's So Hard To Grow

(Anderson / Howe / Wakeman / Bruford)

They say we've got it made, they say we gotta light

Where is the man with all the great directions

They say we gotta win, they say we gotta learn

But in the end it's just the same damn reasonThey say you've gotta run, they say you gotta jump

Don't really need to know which way we're goingThey say we gotta push, they say we gotta shout

Is this the way to keep our bonfires burningSick feeling, sick reasoning, sick challenge you la la la la

You can't imagine it, how hard it is to grow

You can't imagine it, can you imagineThe order of the universeYou don't need anybody, don't you give me that surprise

Everything about you inside your eyes

You don't need anybody in your family ties

You crossed over the riverYou don't need any money to deserve all your friends

It's just the love you give 'em

You don't need anybody in the complicated life

You crossed over the river, you crossed over the river

You crossed over the river, you crossed over the riveriv The Universe
