The Virgins / Grateful Place

Pete's Posse

I have laughed when I should have been listenin'
And run when I should have stood fast
And avoided the signs I should have read twice
I spent too much time in the past

But I can be ever more grateful
Grateful for everyday grace
Whatever remains of this story of mine
Can be told from a grateful place

There are friends who no longer walk with me
I miss them with each step I take
Oh, they shine through my work, and they smile through my songs
And they speak with the choices I make

And I can be ever more grateful
Grateful for everyday grace
Whatever remains of this story of mine
Can be told from a grateful place

There'll be mornings I can't find my purpose
And nights when regret plagues my mind
And sweeter indeed will this life seem to me
When the time comes to leave it behind

Still I can be ever more grateful
Grateful for everyday grace
Whatever remains of this story of mine
Can be told from a grateful place
Can be told from a grateful place

Lyrics Submitted by Sarah Bustin

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/