

Weâ€™ve Got The Moon And Sixpence

Al Bowlly

We've got the moon and sixpence
and dreams to make come true.
We've courage to smile at our sorrows;
That's riches enough for two.

We've bread and cheese and kisses;
That ought to see us through.
A new day is ours tomorrow;
That's a fortune for me and you.

Rain will fall but we should care;
There's always a shelter near.
Rainbow will be ours to share and skies will be

-.

We've got the moon and sixpence
and stars to

--.

So long as we both have each other;
That's more than enough for two
