

Blurry Wisdom

Cloudeater

i sit in a perfect posture a life like this i can hardly conjure and it's not mine but its mine to borrow and i know i'll never hear the end of it blink twice cross it off the roster i'm nice like this i'm a common robber and it makes nice a mental router cause i never wanna feel the weight of it and if i ever had to hide a thing it'd be this for starters it could all be just one big elaborate dream i must admit that all the beauty that my eyes have seen had some pain to barter blot it out till it becomes a blurry thing and i forget that see light i'm a problem solver all my friends might hoot and holler but i blink twice wash it off with water cause i know i'll never hear the end of it and my mind's fighting for survival a lifelong quest of my souls revival and i stand tall at my hearts arrival the only one who feels the weight of it it's blurry wisdom

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>