

Good Thing.

JoJo

I don't know nobody who
Gets me up the way you do
I don't need no pill with what you do to me
Oh baby that's the way I feel
Like a million dollar bill

See it on my face that we're in ecstasy You're an escape from everything I've ever known
I feel you close you give me something to call my own You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing I don't know nobody who
Gets me up the way you do

Another perfect high I don't wanna come down

I don't need no good advice telling me what's wrong or right

There's no explanation for the love we've found You're an escape from everything I've ever known
I feel you close you give me something to call my own You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing There's a riot in me ready to explode

This attraction's deeper than they'll ever know

You give me that, you give me that Flashing lights already got me in the zone

It's a feeling that I never wanna let go

You give me that good hit that real shit no counterfeit

That good thing You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing You give me that good thing, nobody can compare

You give me that good thing, only you take me there
You give me that good thing, can't nobody do it better

I know you're the real thing good thing Good thing
