Nevermind

Spencer Day

Thank you for meeting me again, so good of you to come.
For I know it's been awhile since we tried to reconcile.
"Let's be friends" is often said and rarely done.You've only grown more beautiful with every passing day.
So forgive the awkward aire if I stutter or I stare, I've forgotten everything I meant to say.But nevermind, nevermind...everlasting love is very hard to find. Nevermind nevermind...that's the way it goes sometimes.I do my best to pass the time, I focus on my career.
And the change of scenery did a world of good for me, the distance nearly made the heartache disappear.I hear you moved to Hollywood, and you met someone new.
You recovered easily, it's unfortunate for me but I suppose I never did get over you.But nevermind, nevermind...don't apologize for what you left behind. But nevemmind, nevermind...that's the way it goes sometimes.There's so many things that I would like to say to you.
So much that you'll never know. But judging by the way you keep on staring at your phone, it must be time for me to go.So nevermind, nevermind...should you turn and see the tears that fill my eyes. Nevermind, nevermind... that's the way it goes sometimes.I guess I'll see you around sometimes.
