

Too Official

Quicksand

Give someone some piece of your mind
Shine it, shine what you've been assigned
Has your identity sold out?
Sit in the back and make no sound
This earth will swallow you downHonesty makes you sick
You don't act on, on what you think's right
Honestly want to kick down
Doors that keep you inLet your hair down, sometimes relax your stiff posture
Or so they say, all work no play makes you dull
Chance to change the patterns we're born to
A fear of appearing too concerned
Try to speak, but the words just get stuckHonesty makes you sick
You don act on what you think's right
Honestly want to kick down
Doors that keep you inEach time you get to raise your hand
For changes you don't know your luck
So put yourself to use like
You were taught by, by your heroesYou speak your mind, that something
You speak your mind, that something
We don't get it too often

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>