

So, Come

Emma Ruth Rundle

we forever were changed in this room where I have been living and in these years it's been dangerous but I cannot help from receiving all the Spirits here they all say:
"for now you must suffer so that we may live" all the Saints come down I wish they would now thought in time it has changed us all the room itself, it is breathing we forever are chained in what we have done, we have won we have given to the spirits here, who still call upon me, say "suffer so that we may live"
So, come
take back the old way take what's not right take back the unborn child take it back
