

Save Me

Synchrony

I don't know your name and I lack the power to tell you how I feelWasting time days have vanished to just dream of you I keep the words locked inside til I'm strong enoughI need for you to find what is on my mind save me cause being silent feels like cancer please say something to ease my broken nerves save me from being lorn without an answerYou awake the flame and it keeps on burning cause I still need to knowI have got a million chances but I let them slip I'm just afraid to be denied and expose my heartI need for you to find what is on my mind save me cause being silent feels like cancer
please say something to ease my broken nerves save me from being lorn without an answerWith a conciensce deep as the ocean and the words, they just descend I'm closing in on the surface yet never reaching the endIntend to swim but always drown along the words sinking deeper down you need to save meI need for you to find what is on my mind save me cause being silent feels like cancer
please say something to ease my broken nerves save me from being lorn without an answer

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>