

Time Consumer

Coheed and Cambria

The young stale memories of play the role to your part
Librarian find me the pole, the one that kicks your head in
To my own time roll your own innocence by Grab on to my sleeve the one that grabs at your ankle
Debate to understand that we all have a flaw
Then fail to represent your life as you know it
God grant you one wish to turn back the time, correct and create
The makings of a star Me and my star, Matthew goodnight
You know by law when you'll be forgiven
Maria my star, Matthew goodnight
You know by Lord, you'll be forgiven So they pulled your confidence down with those verbal discrepancies
And now and then you'll gain what they've lost
Through a challenge of unpronounced
Pain is only a pulse if you just stop feeling it
You might be able to use the very thing that makes us up Me and my star, Matthew goodnight
You know by Lord you'll be forgiven
Maria my star, Matthew goodnight
You know my Lord Wait, now, here when will you believe?
Me I'm merely asking you to help me, when did I say to murder?
Wait, now, here, please hear me out
Time consumer, time consuming, consume me
[Incomprehensible] Me and my star, Matthew goodnight
You know by law when you'll be forgiven
Maria my star, Matthew goodnight
You know by Lord, when you'll be forgiven You know tonight in the promise you'll find
You know tonight in the promise you'll find

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>