

Showbiz? Science? Who Cares?

Less Than Jake

if you had all the facts, all the fictions if you knew everything about science and all about religion would you stand by your convictions would you still make all the right decisions would accept someone else's opinions in this life because it takes whatever it takes to get you by?
What's the right thing to do in this crazy mixed up life? sad or sober or strong or with closed eyes
would you still make all the right decisions
would accept someone else's opinions in this life because it's all a leap of faith from white plastic saints to all those hard questions you have to face every single day if you had all the facts, all the fictions
if you knew everything about science and all about religion
would you stand by your convictions
would you still make all the right decisions
would accept someone else's opinions in this life because it's all a leap of faith
from white plastic saints
to all those hard questions you have to face every single day i've read all the books and i still don't have all the answers and that's fine whatever it takes to get you by it's all a leap of faith
from white plastic saints
to all those hard questions you have to face every single day

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>