The Answer

Spoken

You were there when I took my first breath
And You will be there for the last
Mountains bow before You and the ocean turns to rain
The ocean turns to rainYou are a voice from the heavens I hear in the night
And You are the answer to questions I have in this lifeMile after mile they came to hear the words from You
The chance to touch You would change their lives
The ground would shake around You
When the earth would hear Your voice, the earth will hear Your voiceYou are a voice from the heavens I hear in the night
And You are the answer to questions I have in this lifeThe ground would shake
The mountains tremble and fall into the sea
We'll run to You and see
(The ground would shake)
The mountains tremble and fall
You are GodYou are a voice from the heavens I hear in the night
And You are the answer to questions I have in [Incomprehensible]
Questions I have in this lifeYou are God
You are God
