Wiseman

Slightly Stoopid

said the man who feel him a fool for he be the wiseman for the man who don't think he's a fool he control his destiny but he's too cool for himself for himself for himself oh i need is something to keep me movin' on in a world where violence reign and everybody seems so strange to me said the man who feel him a fool for he be the wise man for the man who dont feel him a fool he control his destiny yeah he's too cool for himself for himself for himself oh to cool his weapon of destruction so why dose people suffer and no confusion you aint winnin' if your losin' we don't need said the man who feel him a fool he for he be the wiseman for the man who don't think he's a fool he control his destiny but he's too cool for himself for himself for himself

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/