What Were You Thinking

Spitalfield

What was I thinking that you were thinking
When you told me how much she cared about that boy outside
Forget what you should be, go half way and meet me
I'll be your constant, your reminder how to fly from nine to five
Oh oh, oh oh, oh ohLet's make the other bed she'd sleep in
Recount the plastic stars taped to his ceiling
May they all fall down, the list goes on and on and on and on
Of words that you wrote down, the list goes on and on and on and on
Of words you'd take back nowWhat were you thinking that I was thinking
When you told me about how badly she wants you to decide
Between lifeless and sweetly or lose her completely
And I can't imagine how it felt to let that slide and die inside
Recount the plastic stars taped to his ceiling
May they all fall down, the list goes on and on and on and on
Of words that you wrote down, the list goes on and on and on and on
Of words you'd take back now
