Let Go

Caliban

Your eyesWhen I remember the past sad gray days
When I surrender, I will never smile againLook in my eyes, a killing glance
Love can hurt and that is no secret
But how much pain can I forget?Everything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvationThe time we split, I felt this anger
You were my blaze but pulled my anchor
Every cloud has a silver lining
And that's blessing in disguiseEverything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvationSalvationWhen I remember the past sad gray days
The cold September, when you said, goodbyeLook in my eyes, a killing glance
But every end is a new beginning
I'm looking forward to rise from the dustEverything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvation
