Devil or Angel

Lou Doillon

I'll never quite understand
Why we love to carry on wars, as we do
And I haven't yet opened the doors
That your bullets are already flying throughAnd I wish you'd stop claiming you surrender
Lay down the guns if you do
You accuse me of standing guard
But wouldn't you
Honey you're so quick to skip
From praise to slander
Devil or angel I'm not one or the other
And I'm sorry if I, if I disappoint you, soAnd I'll never know where to stand
When all your hell breaks loose
And I haven't yet said a word
That retaliation troops are on their wayAnd I wish you'd stop claiming you surrender
Lay down the guns if you do
You accuse me of standing guard
But wouldn't you
Honey you're so quick to skip
From praise to slander
Devil or angel I'm not one or the other
And I'm sorry if I, if I disappoint you, soAnd I wish you'd stop claiming you surrender
Lay down the guns if you do
You accuse me of standing guard
But wouldn't you
Honey you're so quick to skip
From praise to slander
Devil or angel I'm not one or the other
And I'm sorry if I, if I disappoint you, soHoney you're so quick to skip
From praise to slander
Devil or angel I'm not one or the other
And I'm sorry if I, if I disappoint you, so
If I disappoint you, so
If I disappoint you, so
