

Already Young

The Whigs

Peter Pan break my fun
Stomp my feet cause I can't run
Chasing down the birthmarks of my dreams
Your shadow won't remind you
My shadow won't follow you if you fly
See you in twenty years is what I mean And I don't care what your old man thinks
I don't care what your old man thinks
I don't care what your old man thinks of me
'Cause I don't care, I'm already young
'Cause I don't care, I'm already young
'Cause I don't care, I'm already young
'Cause I don't care Ticking clocks take my time
Stick it in places I can not find
The way to resurrect the prospects of my dreams
Your shadow won't remind you
My shadow won't follow you if you fly
See you in twenty years is what I mean

Songwriters

JULIAN DORIO, PARKER GISPERT Published by

Lyrics Â© BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.

Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>