Butterflies

Sia

We've been to the top, we've been to the bottom
We've known everything and forgotten, yeah
You've kicked me around, you've wrapped me in cotton
You've carried our load and you've shot them, yeah
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
We've argued by the baggage claim
We've accepted and we've laid blame
We've drank Sangthip in monsoonal rain
We've felt separate and we've felt the same
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there

Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
We've shared joy and we've shared pain
We've shared guilt and we've shared shame
We've bought into the stupid games
We've freed each offer and we laid claim
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Oh yes, the butterflies are still there
Because we came from the same cocoon
