

Recycling

Frank Hamilton

We could start again from now
Call it recycling
We could melt the best bits down
Make use of everything I was getting tired, getting tired of you
You were waking up, waking up to who
I was getting wired, getting wired with you
We were staying up late just because
And we're running, running, running
We can't keep running, running, running
It don't solve nothing, nothing, nothing All I know
Is I don't wanna sleep alone
Please come home
I don't wanna sleep alone
So we could go again this time
Call it what you like
It doesn't take a scientist to find
There's chemistry in everything
I was getting tired, getting tired of you
You were waking up to who I was
And we're running, running, running
We can't keep running, running 'Cause I don't wanna sleep alone
Please come home
No, I don't wanna sleep alone Falling, falling from the rafters
The morning, morning, morning after
It feels so different but nothing's changed
If you call me, I'll still sound the same
We're falling, falling from the rafters
The morning, morning, morning after
It feels so different but nothing's changed
If you call me, call me
I don't wanna sleep alone
I don't wanna sleep alone
(I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna)
(I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna)
(I don't wanna sleep, please come home)
Please come home
(I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna)
(I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna sleep, I don't wanna)
(I don't want to sleep, please come home)

I don't wanna sleep alone
Please come home
