Turn Off My Heart

Rich Price

I've been lot in Los Angeles nothing but big blue skies and breast crawling down sunset on my hands and knees lookin' for something to give my heart a restI've been dreaming about your hips again they way they move when you shake your head but I've been scheming to kiss your lips again so baby why don't you just crawl right back into bed'cause I forgot to turn off my heart like I said I would and I know I should this rolling stone has come to a stop I've been sinkin' in my bed again I can't sleep if were apart and I've been thinkin' about what you said again
