

Drug a Wheel (High Places Remix)

Bear In Heaven

The dog drug a wheel drawn in buffalo blood

the circle of foxes made her struggle and tugThen she dropped and she slept and she came back to lifeSo she opened the door and put her nose in the windShe put a rock in her mouth and continued till nightThe dog drug a wheel until she balanced her biteIn the East and the West in the North and the SouthIn the Beast laid to Rest and put Forth in her MouthTied to ties that she hides behind every foxShe say her breath in the air in the morning light so she laid back down by her lover's sideThere is some truth to this lie, no joke so look at your fire not the smoke
