A Drop In The Ocean

Stratovarius

Seasons of madness fill my mind
A lunar poet trying to find
A conception on what life is all aboutSeconds pass me by, I greet the minutes
As the hours roll them over
And the years will drown the days and monthsWe are one, we are strangers in the night
Searching for our way to the light
Like an echo of unseen fantasies
That you'll never be able to catchA drop in the ocean we're sailing upon
The angels of heaven are singing this song
Just souls in the corner of our universe
It seems that it's all we are
A drop in the oceanPlanet caravans sail on and on
In cosmic harmony they go
Within embrace of universal wombIs it cosmic madness, harmony?
I ask you in my agony
As time won't heal my wounds, it makes me numbWe are one, we are strangers in the night
Searching for our way to the light
Like an echo of unseen fantasies
That you'll never be able to catchA drop in the ocean we're sailing upon
The angels of heaven are singing this song
Just souls in the corner of our universe
It seems that it's all we areA drop in the ocean we're sailing upon
The angels of heaven are singing this song
Just souls in the corner of our universe
It seems that it's all we are
A drop in the ocean

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/