

Mixtape

Jamie Cullum

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Everything I know is you
Let me tell you what we're listening to
I'm a gentle soul I'm sure
But on the stereo I'm a dictator
Do you even have a tape machine?
To facilitate my plastic dreams
All the things that I have seen, from Morrissey to John Coltrane AHHH!...

Cinematic Orchestra, De La Soul the Shangri-La's

An adolescent love letter, a sparkling jewel of manual labour I'll make you a mixtape that's a blueprint of my soul

It may sound grand but babe it's all you need to know
I'll make you a mixtape that will charm you into bed

It details everything that's running round my head That's running round my head Fondling, record and play

Without you it's records night and day

This ain't no disc of MP3's

This one's handmade, fashioned lovingly Plant the rhythm in your bones

You're the only angel in headphones

My love can paint a million tones

From Nine Inch Nails to Louis Armstrong

So resurrect your stereo

And the swaths of melodies will flow

Thelonious, Maurizio

I tell you babe it will make your heart glow I'll make you a mixtape that's a blueprint of my soul

It may sound grand but babe it's all you need to know

I'll make you a mixtape that will charm you into bed

It details everything that's running round my head
