The Glass Parade

Just a voice inside your head
Whispering, "All the hope is dead"
All the time you had to prove
That no one really loves youI found you in a reflection
You didn't want me to see
I will give you all I have, just look up
Break down and believeThis is a glass parade, a fragile state
And I am trying not to break
And the stars are shining, the moon is right
And I would kill to be with you tonightWish you told me all the truth
So afraid to face an absolute
All the fights you had to lose
All the fear was put upon youI found you when you were broken
Too many cracks of deceit
I will give you all I have, just look up
Break down and believeThis is a glass parade, a fragile state
And I am trying not to break
And the stars are shining, the moon is right
And I would kill to be with you tonightThis is the feeling falling
So much I want to say
Show me the same emotion
Show me what's at stakeAnd how much can you take
When you realize your fate?Hold me now as the car lights fade
And we are dancing in the glass parade
Dancing in the glass parade
We are dancing in the glass paradeIt's just a voice inside your head
