

Picking Petals

Aubrey Wood

Picking Petals

Lyrics and Music by Aubrey WoodTried picking petals off of daisies one by one

Collectively

cause they might as well know better than me

Well surprise, surprise

I took a second guess as every one said,

Yes

But little did they know how he really felt inside

Or else those pretty little flowers just

Really knew how to lie

To lie

To lieIf I sing you this song tonight

Will you recognize its for you?

As Im singing this song tonight

Do you recognize its for you?The sun was blazing through the velvet sky

Beneath I wondered why

He wasnt there with me to pass the time

Well instead I had a couple flower friends

Beside me their old stems

Barren and sole

Im just like one of them

On the ground wishing I could be

Full of life again

Again

AgainIf I sing you this song tonight

Will you recognize its for you?

As Im singing this song tonight

Do you recognize its for you?

And for what youve put me through.Spent every day in the feverish

Heat of July

Seeking all the answers

Every bit of advice

A petal at a time

When Id rather pay attention

To a summer sunburn

Than to think about you and just

How much it hurts

To try and make it work

Now.If I sing you this song tonight

Will you recognize its for you?
As Im singing this song tonight
Do you even recognize that its for you?
And for what youve put me through
What youve put me through
Just what youve put me through
What youve put me through.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>