

Becoming Something

The Anthemeers

The Anthemeers Â©2009

I forgot my name today and everyday became the same,
I recall how I was made, that I am merely breath and clay,
I forgot my shame today, and all my fears melted away,
I was turned back into clay, turned back into how I was made.

OOOh....

I woke out of a dream today, and stepped into a holy place,
There was no night, there was no day, some how I found I knew my way,
I could not place His shape or size, as I was lost in His sublime,
Like rays the sun had saved to shine in case I made it to this time...

OOOh...

You wrote me down inside, Your book it was divine,
And now I know that I am, I am becoming something,
With peace I am intertwined, and with my heart inclined,
And now I know that I am, I am becoming something.

---

Lyrics submitted by Kevin Dixon.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>