

Just Keep Holding Me

Tracy Johnson

I didn't sleep last night
I couldn't close my eyes
Every time I did I saw your face
You know I tossed and turned
I tangled up the sheets
Baby in the dark you haunted me
I could cry myself to sleep
But I'd rather you keep holding me
Can't we just pretend that goodbye is not the end?
Cause I'd rather you keep holding me
Like you were holding me
Just last night you were
You were holding me
Just keep holding me
I stumble out of bed
The clock says "5AM"
I wish I could erase
The past three days
I watched from far away
The room was closing in
You told me it was over
But that made no sense
I could cry myself to sleep
But I'd rather you keep holding me
Can't we just pretend that goodbye is not the end?
Cause I'd rather you keep holding me
I could cry myself to sleep
But I'd rather you keep holding me
Like you were holding me
Just last night you were
You were holding me
Just keep holding me
I saw your face and you haunted me
Haunted me and I can't let you go
I could cry but I'd rather you keep holding me
Oh, just keep holding me
Just keep holding me tonight
