Through All That Nothing

Del Amitri

Honey, sometimes those big blue eyes
Can make me fall out of bed in surprise
In the bright morning sun, in the howling wind
In the shirt you sleep in, you're the one'Cause it's you that I tried to find
Every day and every night through all that nothing
Through all that nothingThe hands of fate, couldn't have done it all
As if the rain ever cared where it falls
And there were times when I know
That I just fell in love to give myself an alibi'Cause it's you I was waiting for
Every day and every night through all that nothing
Through all that nothingSo it's true now, I can see
All that nothing that I knew
Was so something like you'd
Come to meThrough all that nothing
Through all that nothingI was waiting for you, baby
Right here, looking for you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/