

Already Dead

Beck

Time wears away all the pleasures of the day
All the treasures you could hold
Days turn to sand, losing strength in every hand
They can't hold you anymore Already dead to me now, already dead to me now
'Cause it feels like I'm watching something die Love looks away in the harsh light of the day
On the edge of nothing more
Days fade to black in the light of what they lack Nothing's measured by what it needs Already dead to me now, already dead to me now
'Cause it feels like I'm watching something die
