Nothing Too Serious

Icehouse

Twenty story buildings coming down on me
Mountain ranges sliding into the sea
Rivers of blood, burning red
I got a broken heart, and a broken headI got a broken heart, and a broken head
I had a little accident, nothing too serious
Take a look at this place, take a look at this mess, nothing too serious
If you close your eyes it may go away, nothing too serious
We can do it again some other day, nothing too seriousWell, I shook myself and I fell out of bed
I can't remember a thing, was it something I said?
I don't know my name and I don't know my place
And there's a crack in the mirror, a crack in my faceBaby is blue, she had a heavy night
Baby is blue, she's going to be alright
Baby is blue, she'll never leave your sight
You'd better take her homeI had a little accident, nothing too serious
Take a look at this place, take a look at this mess, nothing too serious
If you close your eyes it may go away, nothing too serious
We can do it again some other day, nothing too seriousI had a little accident, nothing too serious
Take a look at this place, take a look at this mess, nothing too serious
If you close your eyes it may go away, nothing too serious
We can do it again some other day, nothing too serious
I had a little accident and nothing too seriousHey, no no no no nothing too serious
Yeah, nothing too serious
If you close your eyes it may go away, nothing too serious
I had a little accident, nothing too serious
