

Be Be Your Love

Rachael Yamagata

If I could take you away pretend I was queen
What would you say? Would you think I'm unreal?
'Cause everybody's got their way I should feel And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love, for real And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real, want to be your everything Every thing's falling, and I am included in that Oh, how I'll try to be just okay?
Yeah, but all I ever really wanted was a little piece of you And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real
Everything will be alright if you just stay the night Please, sir, don't you walk away
Don't you walk away, don't you walk away
Please, sir, don't you walk away
Don't you walk away, don't you walk away And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real And everybody's talking how I can't, can't be your love
But I want, want, want to be your love
Want to be your love for real Want to be your love, love, love, love
I want to be your love, love, love, love
