

Black Heart Romance

My Dying Bride

You're mine when you're bleeding
Divine to the end
No more pretence
Bid adieu to your breathing I will witness your leaving
But not for your sleeping
With tears in my eyes
Just when you arise The girl you take in you
And the woman within you
Will now cease to be At last can be free
Passions and crime. Your lover and mine
Deep came the need. And sweet was her bleed Through purity and through light
We sing and we dance
And the grace of the night
To our black heart romance Hair fall of black. Eyes don't look back Pale skin and cold. Lying in her fold
My eyes burned with her horror
She came, she saw, she took anything she liked
They fell, they screamed, they wept but they died
From hands of the abhorrer Amourous when she is feeding
We are hers when we are bleeding
My heart shen can steal The love that we feel
