

Confined

Biopsy

That night I never came home
Wandering souls captured my thoughts
    Emptiness filled my mind
    Urgency spoke her lies
In the confines of these gray walls
    I watched them move together
Taking me places I cannot remember, remember
We have been poured out into this loveless bride
    How quickly I forget
    That this is meaningless?
    How quickly I forget
    That this is meaningless?
    In a world passing
    Through my fingers
    I still chase the wind
    How quickly I forget
    That this is meaningless?
    How quickly I forget
    That this is meaningless?
    What have
I learned from yesterday?
    What have
I learned from yesterday?
