

Nomad

Rusty Clanton

Unseen flame
Stay lost in the night
When alongside your warmth
You still won't give light

Careless drifter don't knock on my door
It's framework is crumbling
From answering your
Every plea
Won't open no more

And the weight stopped crushing my bones
When I lost the wonder to know
Why you never stayed

Endless woe
Your game has grown old
The cards have been rigged
Concerns just for show
I fold
I've seen it before

And the weight stopped crushing my bones
When I lost the wonder to know
Why you never stayed

Crawl back every time
I won't pay no mind
