Naked

Tracy Bonham

Naked
(Tracy Bonham)My stubborn skin is wearing thin
I bared my soul you waltzed right in I gave you everything and you just made me feel so very Naked, and I don't remember how I let myself become so unraveledI spilled my guts on your best shoes
You keep it in I let it loose
It's only love that makes me feel like getting so completelyNaked and I don't remember how I let myself become so unraveled
I'm naked pretty as a heart ache waiting for my second skin to settle inYour hardened heart can't hide you now
It loves as much as you allow
And in the end the eyeball army will just take you down and you'll beNaked nothing but a heart ache and you know there's Nothing that can hide you now
You're naked pretty as a heart ache going out exactly how you came in.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/