

Hey Baby, Here's That Song You Wanted

Blessthefall

I watched the sun again, it's leaving now
I've spent all night long trying to figure out
What I've lost and what I've failed when my feet won't hit the ground
Trying to make it, starting over, and will we ever love again?
Hey baby, are you alone tonight?
How can we make it?
Hey baby, looks like you were wrong
It's never too late, too late
So here we are again to make some sense of it all
All these sorry changes, maybe things are not so different
Rearrange the pieces like it's all we know
It's all we know, let it go
Hey baby, are you alone tonight?
How can we make it?
Hey baby, looks like you were wrong
It's never too late, too late
I can't put it together, what we've lost
The pieces keep falling one by one
'Cause this life has us holding on
Fall tomorrow, then it's gone
Fall tomorrow then I'm gone
Hey baby, it looks like you were wrong
How can we make it?
Hey baby, are you alone tonight?
How can we make it?
Hey baby, looks like you were wrong
It's never too late, too late
And we'll take it all, leave this place behind
(Hey baby)
There's no one else tonight, tonight
We'll take it all, leave this place behind
(Hey baby)
There's no one else tonight, tonight

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>