Rope

A.Tone Da Priest

(Hook)
I tied a rope around your heart, just to keep you mine
Its inevitable the fight, its just a way to pass the time
You will be my favorite victim, together two confined
Itll be fine, think ahead somewhere down the line
(Verse 1)
It hurts me, dearly, to see you in this state
Captive in the fortress, in chained within this place
Face to face, sense escape; place the key into a deep whole
Keep you tied around my waste, everywhere I go we go
I feed my ego when I feed you, seems youre hungry for some more
I cant take this senseless bickering so I close you behind doors
Your lifes a chore, Im getting bored, uncertain, scared to set you free
Whos to say youll wanna stay, youll probably run and bail on me
Not what we need, because your mine and now there is no turning back
Just like you to get emotions, all mixed in with the facts
Give me that, my heart, you want your freedom give it back
Or just kill me when Im low, go head, stab me in the back
(Hook)
(Verse 2)
Im taking pleasure from your body, consider me a leech
I love the tension of excitement, when screams become your speech
Your beat, left swollen as I close my eyes to sleep
Filled with nightmares and horror, I sure hope your dreams are sweet
She said shes weak; the torture is too much for her to take
I said Its mutual but youre the cause of your own twisted fate
All a mistake, she said There is no reason to proceed
If I could please find it in my heart to stop and let it be Shes thankful for everything, and shell still be here when its over
She kissed me on the cheek and I was no longer sober
Broker free from my own trap, untied the rope to mend
My broken heart, our shattered parts, never saw that girl again (Sad end)
