

Reliance

Mescalito

So you think the areas are gray
But it continues each day
A bad example of the attitude you portray
Act like I owe you my life
You should be burdened with strife
Can't find a single reason I could live with you as my wife
So I continue to pray
And hope that you'll go away
A bad addiction to a home wrecking thing who plays
With my heart and that's the bottom line
I feel so empty now
What can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self
Oh God, I'm losing patience each day
I've put myself in harms way
Can't seem to justify none of the shit you say
Can't find another way out
Here's nothing left but pure doubt
I'm on the verge of pulling my hair straight out
So if you listen to me
Not to the powers that be
We're not supposed to be together can't you see
In decision is the bottom line
I feel so empty now
Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
And what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix all by myself
Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self, my damn self
I'm gonna show you now
This time I'm getting out
I've said it many times but this time I have figured out
Just how I'm moving on It's taken way too long
Inside I know I'll feel much better when you're really gone
Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self
Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self
