

Show Me

Howard Jones

We got the same beat runnin' round through this crazy town
Oh, I'm sick and I can't hear it anymore
And when we touched as the blood and the rain
We'd be shakin' the ground
She's sick and there's a way to bring her 'round Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know The party drags us over the edge to a poison shore
I can't carry this desire anymore
Across the blue sky callin' me with the sweetest demand
She talks to me of mercy make me understand Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know And through these years
As the tears chase the rain
The picture has cleared
Can we face the change Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know Show me
