This Time

Laura Marie

I used to think that it was only me the way my world collides with every truth I seek and how I couldn't keep myself from falling deep into the waiting void that I have left in meYou used to think that it was only you the way my world revolved around the things you do
from falling through into the waiting void and how that still seems trueIf I was made to fly and you were gone could I, without the strings you tie, make it and make it alone this timeI've never come this farI used to keep a little piece of mind I kept it tucked behind my ear a little light that I could ride away upon in troubled times it's just another part of me that I can't findI've never come this far but I know I want to stay here for the moment I can see why you had to let me feel this way I wouldn't cry if I didn't know that I could have been here yesterday but I wouldn't have tried without you on my side, if you hadn't let me go and you didn't want to know if I was...made to fly and you were gone could I, without the strings you tie,
this time
