For Every Tear That Falls

Evergrey

Stranded on a shore of no light
The waves brings me sorrow
And with a vision of past in my mind
All I crave is to see you back in lifeI call your name but you won't hear me
I seek your eyes but they won't see
And when I reach for your hands
I realize, I can't feel them no moreI see your eyes
And I feel your painSailing waters I am driftin' inside
The wind, it brings me sadness
And with a vision of past in my mind
All I wanted was not to see you dieI call your name but you won't hear me
I seek your eyes but they won't see
And when I'm burnin' inside
I hope you're thereCan't you see my tears?
I see your cryin'
And I have tried to forget
You'll always be in my mindI stare the eyes of a man alone
A man I used to care for A man I used to knowFor every tear that falls
A wound grows bigger
Into my already bleedin' soulIf I had only been there
Oh God I wish, I could have saved youI still remember the times we shared
I've tried to keep inside the grief I suffer
I can't believe that I've been swept away
Like I never existed as a part of your lifeI'm still stranded on the shore of no light
And the same wave still brings me the sorrow
And I'm still driftin', yes, driftin' inside
And my wound grows bigger for every tear that falls
For every tear that falls

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/