When We Were Young

London Grammar

Do you remember? Back when, we fell in love in your best friends basement Spun the bottle and hoped it would land on you Thought we were cool, listening to Zeppelin Making out on the stairway to heaven Nowhere to go, so we slept out on the roof But now, we hardly even speak, at all Looking back, how did we get away? I never thought that we'd surrender When i was yours and you were mine Never regret, no, we learned how to love When we were young When we were young Snuck out in your daddy's ride at the drive in, makking love for the first time Forget the silver screen, it's a wonderful life But now, we hardly even speak, at all Looking back, how did we get away? I never thought that we'd surrender

> When i was yours and you were mine Never regret, no, we learned how to love When we were young and still together No, there was nothing left to prove Never regret no, we learned how to love When we were young and reckless Dumb and fearless Fighting in the streets Will you remember me? Young forever, back then Never knew the first love's the hardest I never thought that we'd surrender When i was yours and you were mine Never regret, no, we learned how to love When we were young and still tgether No, there was othing left to prove Never regret, no we learned how to love When we were young When we were young.

When we were young. When we were young.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/